PSG College of Technology

PSG College of Technology, established in 1951, is one of the premier institutions in India, founded by the PSG & Sons' Charities Trust, which dates back to 1926. An ISO 9001:2015 certified institution, the college is renowned for its academic excellence and commitment to quality education. It offers a wide range of programmes including 21 undergraduate courses such as BE, BTech, and BSc, and 24 postgraduate programmes encompassing ME, MTech, five-year and two-year MSc, MBA, and MCA. In addition, PSG Tech is a recognized QIP (Quality Improvement Programme) centre for postgraduate and PhD research programmes, reflecting its strong focus on advanced learning and research.

Department of Apparel & Fashion Design

The Department of Apparel and Fashion Design offers a comprehensive five-year integrated M.Sc. Fashion Design & Merchandising programme, built on a three-pronged approach that focuses on design, production, and management. Over the past decade, the department has consistently nurtured a pool of versatile graduates who are well-prepared to meet the evolving challenges of the fashion industry by applying creative and responsible design solutions.

Students benefit from access to state-of-the-art facilities, including specialized laboratories for Pattern Making, Garment Construction, Computer-Aided Design (CAD), WGSN Trend Forecasting, Embroidery, and Photography, along with a dedicated Design Studio that encourages innovation and creative exploration.

The department actively promotes academic and professional growth through a diverse array of initiatives such as national conferences, expert talks, hands-on workshops, webinars, and various co-curricular and extra-curricular activities. These efforts are designed to enrich student learning, provide meaningful industry exposure, and support the holistic development of future fashion professionals.

About the Conference

The National Conference on Disruptive Technologies in Fashion (NCDTF 26) delves into the transformative impact of emerging technologies on the fashion industry. This event will spotlight cutting-edge innovations such as AI-driven trend forecasting, blockchain for supply chain transparency, 3D printing for on-demand production, and the use of sustainable materials. With the rise of wearable technology and augmented reality, the way fashion is consumed and experienced is being revolutionized. NCDTF 26 aims to bring together industry professionals, researchers, and academicians to foster collaboration, share insights, and discuss how these technologies are reshaping design, production, and management in fashion. A key focus will be on how these disruptive tools contribute to greater efficiency, enhanced personalization, and sustainable practices, ultimately reducing the environmental footprint of the fashion industry in an increasingly digital and eco-conscious world.

Call for Papers

NCDTF 26 invites students, researchers, and industry professionals to participate in the conference through oral presentations. Authors are encouraged to submit abstracts online, following the prescribed format, with a maximum limit of 300 words. Submissions are welcome in the following thematic areas:
